“It isn’t the rebels who cause the troubles of the world; it’s the troubles that cause the rebels.”
– Carl Oglesby, Students for a Democratic Society

COURSE OVERVIEW

This course examines the origins, intellectual influences, leadership strategies, tactics, and consequences of various social and protest movements in U.S. history. The beginning of the course provides an overview of social movement theories and philosophical perspectives on protest, civil disobedience, and revolution. The course then covers specific movements that include: the American revolutionary movement; the woman suffrage movement; the civil rights movement; the Anti-Vietnam War and the counter-culture movements; the Reagan Revolution; and the Tea Party movement. Several of the leaders and participants in these movements advanced ideas, beliefs, and positions that remain controversial. My intent in covering these movements is not to advocate any particular cause or political position, but rather to use them as illustrations to help you understand and apply the key theories and factors that explain the successes and/or failures of these movements. By the end of the course, you should have an understanding of the conditions that give rise to social and protest movements, how and under what conditions social and protest movements can affect political and social change, and the effects that past social and protest movements have had in shaping our society and democracy.

COURSE STRUCTURE

Classes begin with a lecture on the topic listed in the course outline. Everyone should come to class prepared to ask questions and to contribute to class discussions. Keeping up with the assigned readings and attending class regularly throughout the semester will allow for more informed classroom discussions and for more interesting debates, as well as improve your ability to contribute to and learn from the class interactions. To help generate additional thought and discussion on the subjects covered in the course, I often show political documentaries and films in class. On occasion, I may select documentaries or films that have an “R” rating. Please see me if you have any moral, religious, political, or other objections to viewing documentaries or films with an “R” rating. Finally, please feel free to ask questions during class or to raise any subjects for discussion from the lectures, readings, or videos. A classroom with open discussion creates a learning environment that should challenge and engage you to think critically about the topics presented and the questions raised in this course.

READINGS

(1) The 60s Experience: Hard Lessons about Modern America by Edward P. Morgan (Temple University Press, 1991); (2) Rules for Radicals: A Pragmatic Primer for Realistic Radicals by Saul D. Alinsky (Vintage Books, 1971); (3) and course packet and Blackboard readings.
LEARNING OBJECTIVES AND EVALUATION

To complete this class successfully, I will expect you to be able to identify and define terms; interpret the significance of important events; apply principles to hypothetical scenarios; compare and contrast concepts; construct solutions to political problems and controversies; and assess the strengths and weaknesses of various different arguments and perspectives concerning movement tactics. Please note that I will not share my partisan affiliation to anyone in the class and pledge to present both sides of every political argument as fairly as possible. My larger and ultimate learning objective in this course is to teach each of you not what to think, but rather how to think about the issues we address in class.

Your final grade in the course is based on your class attendance, online participation, and your performance on two exams. There is also an optional research paper assignment. The weight assigned to each is:

1. Mid-term exam scheduled on March 2 = 30% of your overall grade.
2. Final exam scheduled on May 4 = 30% of your overall grade.
3. Optional research assignment (see details on page 8) due on April 20. Your grade on this assignment can be used to replace a grade on the mid-term or final exam.
4. Online participation is worth 20% of your overall grade (see below for more information).
5. Class attendance is worth the remaining 20% of your overall grade.

Course averages will be converted to letter grades using the scale below:

YOUR ONLINE PARTICIPATION GRADE

Participation is a requirement for this course, and the Packback Answers platform will be used for online discussion about class topics. You are required to answer two discussion board questions and to post one question of your own relevant to the subject matter every week due by the end of Tuesday. I encourage you to include supporting materials (i.e., links to articles or videos from reputable sources) to strengthen your questions and answers. There will be a total of 12 weeks with assignments throughout the semester. This means you will be asked to answer a total of 24 discussion board questions and to post 12 questions, equaling 36 assignments. Your online grade will be based on the percentage of those assignments that you have completed throughout the semester. For example, if you successfully completed all 36 assignments, you would earn an online grade of 100%. Alternatively, if you completed 30 of the 36 assignments, you would earn an 83% (30/36=.83).

CLASS ATTENDANCE

Class attendance is mandatory. I will circulate an attendance sign-in sheet at the beginning of each lecture. It is your responsibility to make sure that you sign the attendance sheet if you are present in class. If you arrive excessively late to class or if you leave class early, you will receive only partial credit for attendance. Your class attendance grade will be based on the percentage of classes that you attend (e.g., a student who attends every class will earn a 100; a student who attends half of the classes will earn a 50, etc.). Students who are active participants during class discussions will receive a bonus point added to their overall course grade.

EXAM ATTENDANCE

Failure to be present for any of the scheduled exams will result in an automatic “0.” On all exam dates, please come prepared with an exam booklet and a pen. If you cannot attend the exam, you must contact me at least 30 minutes before I have administered the test. I will grant a make-up exam only for circumstances that I deem extraordinary or for circumstances that meet university guidelines. If you miss the exam because of an illness, you are still required to contact me before the exam. You must also present me with proper verification (see below).

EXCUSED ABSENCES AND VERIFICATION

I will excuse absences, including those on exam dates, for the following reasons: (1) participation in an authorized activity as an official representative of the university (this includes athletic events, university-sponsored performances, or academic conferences); (2) participation in other activities deemed by the Dean of Students to warrant an excused absence; (3) an extreme personal emergency; (4) the death of an immediate family member; (5) participation in a religious holiday; and (6) health reasons such as an incapacitating or contagious illness or unavoidable surgery. DO NOT schedule non-emergency doctor’s appointments (such as an annual check-up visit or a dental visit) or any other personal commitments during our class time. If your absence meets any of the criteria mentioned above, I will need you to present me with some form of verification no later than one week after the absence if you wish to have your absence excused. Some acceptable forms of verification include the following: a note from Student Health Services; a note from a doctor or medical office; an obituary; or official documentation from the athletic department indicating your travel schedule. In the event of severe weather, please call the University Emergency Telephone Number at 252-328-0062 or visit the ECU emergency alert website (http://www.ecu.edu/alert) to check on whether the university has canceled classes. If the university has not canceled classes, but you commute to campus from a considerable distance and believe driving conditions may be hazardous, I will consider excusing your absence.
ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Academic integrity is a fundamental value of higher education shared by all at East Carolina University. Consistent with this principle, I expect all students to complete their academic work honestly. I will not tolerate any student’s involvement in cheating, plagiarism, falsifying work, submitting the same assignment for more than one course, or other acts that would be in violation of the university’s academic integrity standards. If I become aware of or suspect a potential academic integrity violation, I will meet with the student under suspicion following the procedures outlined in the university’s academic integrity policy. Should I determine that an academic integrity violation has occurred, I reserve the right to assign a grade penalty up to and including an “F” for the assignment or the course. If it also comes to my attention that the student involved in such an incident has had a prior academic integrity violation, or if there are other aggravating circumstances, I will refer the case directly to the Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities. Should the Academic Integrity Board determine that the accused student committed an academic integrity violation, the penalties, as outlined in the Student Code of Conduct, may include a grade penalty and up to suspension from the university. For more information, please see: http://www.ecu.edu/cs-acad/fsonline/customcf/currentfacultymanual/part6section2.pdf.

CLASSROOM RULES

The classroom is a learning environment. I expect all students to observe some basic rules of courtesy and respect, which include the following: (1) please address me as “Dr. Francia” or “Professor Francia” (upon graduation, you are welcome to address me by my first name, “Peter”); (2) arrive to class on time and do not leave before class is dismissed; (3) do not pack up your things early; it is disruptive to others around you; (4) turn off cell phones and keep them put away during class; (5) no laptop use during video screenings; (6) no eating during class; (7) no reading the newspaper or listening to music through headphones during class; (8) no sleeping during class; (9) no carrying on private conservations with others in the classroom while someone else is speaking; and (10) please be courteous to your classmates and respectful of your fellow students’ views, comments, and questions. Classroom discussion is meant to allow us to hear a variety of viewpoints, and this can only happen if we respect each other and our differences. Failure to follow these rules will negatively affect your class attendance and participation grade. Repeated or extreme offenses could result in your expulsion from the class.

E-MAIL

E-mail is a valuable tool for me to communicate announcements and information to the entire class. Please check your ECU e-mail at least once a day (weekends excluded). E-mail is also a good way for you to contact me. Please feel free to use e-mail to set up one-on-one meetings with me if my office hours conflict with your schedule. If you have specific questions about the course material, I am happy to answer them through e-mail; however, I would encourage you to set up a one-on-one meeting with me if you are having general difficulty with your understanding of the course material. I am also happy to answer any specific questions concerning academic or career advising through e-mail, but again I would encourage you to set up a one-on-one meeting with me if you need more general academic or career advice. Please do not use e-mail to request information already listed in the syllabus, such as an exam date or the weight assigned to a specific exam.
DISABILITY SERVICES

East Carolina University seeks to comply fully with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). Students requesting accommodations based on a covered disability must go to the Department for Disability Support Services located in Slay 138 to verify the disability before any accommodations can occur. The telephone number is 252-737-1016.

APPOINTMENTS

My office is located in the Brewster Building, Room A-101. My office hours are from 1:00 to 3:30 p.m. every Monday and Friday. If you cannot meet with me during my office hours, please see me after class or contact me by telephone or e-mail to schedule an appointment. Every Friday at noon, I am also happy to have lunch with anyone who wishes to join me. If you wish to schedule a Friday lunch, please contact me at least one day in advance.

OPTIONAL RESEARCH PAPER ASSIGNMENT

(1) TOPIC: Please prepare a 10-12 page research paper (double-spaced, Times New Roman 12-font, 1-inch margins) on a social or protest movement not covered in this course. Your paper should provide the background and history of the movement, and consider the following questions: What were the most significant events that helped bring about the movement? Who were the major leaders in the movement? What were the tactics, methods, and leadership strategies of the movement? How did these tactics, methods, and strategies affect its overall success (or failure) in accomplishing its overriding objectives? Could the movement have been more successful had it done something differently? What is the legacy of the movement? Please make sure that you support your positions and claims using examples supported by academic sources and historical research. (Remember the rule: “show, don’t tell.”) Formatting of citations and the bibliography should follow the APSA Style Guide (see http://citesource.trincoll.edu/apsa/apsa.html). The paper is due on April 20.

(2) OPTION OF FORMING A GROUP: You have the choice of completing this assignment on your own or with a group of students of your choosing. The group may consist of no more than three students. If you choose to work in a group, all members will share the same final grade. It will be your collective responsibility as a group to coordinate all activities, including your meeting times, division of labor, etc. If you form a group, you also will have to present a short Power Point presentation of your work to the class on April 20. The length of time for the presentation should be roughly 15 minutes. Your presentation should address the questions raised above. Please bring a flash-drive with your Power Point presentation on it to class on April 20.

(3) DEADLINES: As noted above, the paper is due on April 20. There is one other important deadline. By February 24, you will need to notify me of the social or protest movement that you have selected as the topic of your paper. If you decide to work in a group, I will need a list of the names of the students in your group as well. Please e-mail me this information any time before the February 24 deadline. Failure to provide this information by the February 24 deadline will result in a one-letter grade deduction on the assignment with an additional one-letter grade deduction for each week that passes in which you fail to provide this information to me. I will allow changes to your topic and/or group assignments after the February 24 deadline only for extraordinary circumstances. I must approve any such changes before the final assignment is due on April 20.
